

Host Home Services

Support, Inc. provides clients and host home providers with extensive supports, including experienced behaviorists, nurses and public benefits staff. Some adults with developmental disabilities need a supportive, family environment, and we have many caring and competent Host Home Providers waiting with open arms, ready to receive them. By contracting with both private individuals and families alike, we place adults with developmental disabilities into safe and nurturing homes, enhancing their lives without the use of institutions.

- » Enjoy a secure environment with people who truly care about their well-being
- » Learn new life skills
- » Make new friends and engage in social and community activities

Support, Inc. providers are well trained and committed to your family member's success

The primary goal of a Support, Inc. host home provider is to give the level of support an adult with developmental disabilities needs to become an active member of society. Our host home providers:

- » Receive extensive, ongoing training in the field of developmental disabilities
- » Get additional custom training, specific to the individual(s) they serve
- » Are extensively pre-screened with background checks, reference checks and home safety inspections
- » Have access to additional support and oversight from a residential program coordinator, nurse, behaviorist and public benefits specialist

Support, Inc. has a matching process that takes into consideration lifestyle, religious affiliation, activity level, and other relevant preferences in efforts to provide a good match and long-term placement.

Since 1989, Support, Inc. has been one of Colorado's leading providers of quality care for people with developmental disabilities. Our on-staff nurses and behavioral specialists provide a consistency of care rarely seen in our industry, and serve individuals according to their unique needs.

"I felt the choice of homes to be outstanding."

"I had tried other organizations before Support, Inc., but there always seemed a lack of what was needed for a complete package. Either the training was not as complete, or the homes to the same standard as those desired by a parent. We worry day and night if our family member is well cared for, well fed, made to feel at home, etc. At Support, Inc., I felt the choice of homes to be outstanding, and working with your staff, I could see we were all on the same page."
